A PRESENTATION...

For “formal history'' Why we took the date of Turkish-Turkish Cinema not 1914 but 1917 We should answer this first: “Turkish Film Guide”, it’s a cinema hand book of feature films. “ The Cinema films” which are shown in theatres, meets with audiances through the festivals. No matter which format is used super 16mm or 35mm or even with High Definition by digital cameras if it can be placed in theatres, it’s “a cinema film” on itself. By this perspective, first Turkish feature film is shooted in 1917 and shown in 1918 (August 1334). “Pençe” and “Casus” films are directed by Sedat Simavi.

We took two books as examples for preparing “Turkish Film Guide”. The one is from us and an other is from abroad. “Film Guide” book by Leslie Halliwell which prepared a new addition every year and “Dictionary of Turkish Film” prepared by the presidents of Se-Sam (Turkish cinema owners and cinema film owners professional organisations) Ttirker înanoglu and Kadri Yurdatap 1250 pages book is written by me. It’s like a cinema encyclopedia more then a dictionary with four books, including cinema writers critics and comments about the films. This book is the summary of it. In addition, in this new book, it is catagorised by the name of cinema films which are beeing shooted in 91 years, not years in order to make it simple and practical.

sinematek.tv

The complex time of Turkish cinema starts in 1972 with “sex adventures” and in 1974 with “sex comedies” Untill end of 1970s this period contunies and specially with small budget films starts or in other saying we call it “junk films” that they make the same films with changing names and pretending like new films, we try to distinguish between real films to duble named films so on. We conlroled the names of actors and actresses. Of couse we could no capable of collecting burnt old films or film negatives trown away into the sea or negatives used to different reasons in our cinema without documents, perhaps we missed some of them. Our mistakes too...

About the awards, we did not include simple awards of domestic or abroad.. Pages could not enough for all these. For these we only include important festivals in abroad like Oscar, Cannes, Berlin and Venice, in the country; Istanbul, Antalya, Adana, and Ankara festivals... And awards, only includes the films.

Generally this work could be completed with 20 or 30 people work but I shall say, 1 did it on my own within 3 mounts with extraordinary effort... Because of this I could be incomplete... Might be. I could be mistaken too...

And I’m closing with expressing my gratitudes to: Engin Yiğitgil, the president of Türsak, Yılmaz Atadeniz, the president of Sesam and Turkish Ministry of Culture and Tourism, Dr. Ş. Abdurrahman Çelik, General Manager of Copyright and Cinema and my friends, publisher Kemal Özdemir, Alican Sekmeç, Sadi Çilingir, Vadullah Taş and Dr. Yahya Karadaş.
